BICHONS BITS AND BYTES

Puppies!

Bichon FurKids recently rescued two little girls from local shelters; Miss Pink and Denay. When we took them to our vets, we discovered they were very pregnant (something that the shelters did not know or communicate to us.) While we spay and neuter all of our rescues before placing them in Forever Homes, we could not do so with these two little bichons. Here is their story.

Puppies!

Miss Pink gave birth to her NINE puppies on October 17th. Six girls and three boys. Sadly, we lost one little girl leaving eight. Pink has been a terrific Mommy and her pups will be available after Christmas.

Denay's puppies arrived the evening of October 31, just in time for Halloween. Three girls and two boys were born as predicted by a previous ultrasound and x-ray. THEN...a surprise! After Mama Denay had a bath, there were contractions again. It was another little boy! The final count was three girls and three boys! These pups are also thriving under the loving care of their Mommy and will be ready for adoption after the first of the year.

If you are interested in adopting one of our 'homegrown' FurKids please fill out an application on our web site www.bichonfurkids.org and mention either Miss Pink's or Denay's pup by name.

I Rescued a Human Today

If people could understand the significance of this message, there would be no homeless dogs -- in fact, there would be huge waiting lists!!!

I rescued a human today.

Her eyes met mine as she walked down the corridor peering apprehensively into the kennels. I felt her need instantly and knew I had to help her. I wagged my tail, not too exuberantly, so she would not be afraid. As she stopped at my kennel I blocked her view from a little accident I had in the back of my cage. I didn't want her to know that I hadn't been walked today. Sometimes the shelter keepers get too busy and I didn't want her to think poorly of them.

As she read my kennel card I hoped that she wouldn't feel sad about my past. I only have the future to look forward to and want to make a difference in someone's life. She got down on her knees and made little kissy sounds at me. I shoved my shoulder and side of my head up against the bars to comfort her. Gentle fingertips caressed my neck; she was desperate for companionship. A tear fell down her cheek and I raised my paw to assure her that all would be well.

Soon my kennel door opened and her smile was so bright that I instantly jumped into her arms. I would promise to keep her safe. I would promise to always be by her side. I would promise to do everything I could to see that radiant smile and sparkle in her eyes. I was so fortunate that she came down my corridor. So many more are out there who haven't walked the corridors. So many more to be saved. At least I could save one.

I rescued a human today.

For the Love of Lucky

Mary and her husband Jim had a dog named 'Lucky.' Lucky was a real character. Whenever Mary and Jim had company come for a weekend visit they would warn their friends to not leave their luggage open because Lucky would help himself to whatever struck his fancy. Inevitably, someone would forget and something would come up missing.

Mary or Jim would go to Lucky's toy box in the basement and there the treasure would be, amid all of Lucky's other favorite toys. Lucky always stashed his finds in his toy box and he was very particular that his toys stay in the box.

It happened that Mary found out she had breast cancer. Something told her she was going to die of this disease....in fact, she was just sure it was fatal.

She scheduled the double mastectomy, fear riding her shoulders. The night before she was to go to the hospital she cuddled with Lucky. A thought struck her...what would happen to Lucky? Although the three-year-old dog liked Jim, he was Mary's dog through and through. If I die, Lucky will be abandoned, Mary thought. He won't understand that I didn't want to leave him. The thought made her sadder than thinking of her own death.

The double mastectomy was harder on Mary than her doctors had anticipated and Mary was hospitalized for over two weeks. Jim took Lucky for his evening walk faithfully, but the little dog just drooped, whining and miserable.

Finally the day came for Mary to leave the hospital. When she arrived home, Mary was so exhausted she couldn't even make it up the steps to her bedroom. Jim made his wife comfortable on the couch and left her to nap. Lucky stood watching Mary but he didn't come to her when she called. It made Mary sad but sleep soon overcame her and she dozed.

When Mary woke for a second she couldn't understand what was wrong. She couldn't move her head and her body felt heavy and hot. But panic soon gave way to laughter when Mary realized the problem. She was covered, literally blanketed, with every treasure Lucky owned! While she had slept, the sorrowing dog had made trip after trip to the basement bringing his beloved mistress all his favorite things in life. He had covered her with his love.

Mary forgot about dying. Instead she and Lucky began living again, walking further and further together every day. It's been 12 years now and Mary is still cancer-free. Lucky? He still steals treasures and stashes them in his toy box but Mary remains his greatest treasure.

Remember....live every day to the fullest. Each minute is a blessing from God. And never forget....the people who make a difference in our lives are not the ones with the most credentials, the most money, or the most awards. They are the ones that care for us.

If you see someone without a smile today give them one of yours! Live simply. Love seriously. Care deeply. Speak kindly. Leave the rest to God.

Why We Chose to

My story starts because of a beautiful boy now known as Bean. You see one of our dogs had just passed away and we were looking to replace her. I stumbled upon Bichon Fur Kids and found Bean, fell in love and adopted him.

After adopting Bean I had spoken with Marti who asked if I would be interested in fostering and I replied I would have to think about it. My immediate thoughts were I could NEVER do that! I had a thousand reasons in my head why I couldn't be a foster parent. But for some reason the thought never left my mind, maybe I could do this, who knew.....

One day I remembered Bean's foster mom. She had three dogs of her own, three or four children, one a 9 month old baby which she managed to carry around with her all the while dealing with us and the adoption process. I thought if she can do this I certainly can.

What if someone had said I don't have the time or it's too much work or it would be too sad to deal with? Maybe my Bean would never have made it out of the shelter. He was at one time someone's neglected, throw away dog. He is now my joy, my laughter, my companion.

I have people all the time asking me how can you do this? And my answer to them is how can I not?

Why We Chose to Foster BFK FurKids

Yes, sometimes it's hard...sometimes the rescue babies are sick or scared or have issues and need TLC. But one thing they all have in common is that they need love and help to find their forever homes.

The reason I do this?

To see a sick neglected dog become well, to see a once unloved scared dog have that spark come back in their eyes and to live in a comfortable home and run, jump and play again. But most of all to see the smiles and joy on peoples faces when they adopt their little furry family members and to know that I have been a small part of this makes me feel as if in some way I have given back to some small furry people who can not make their own choices and have to rely on others for help.

2009 Bichon FurKids Calendars

This year BFK is offering a darling calendar designed by Judy Mondero. Each month features one of this past year's happily adopted FurKids and tells their touching stories.

Pictures of these FurKids in the shelters contrast the healthy happy lives they now lead with their Forever families. Each month's easy-to-read calendar lists all the holidays, a poem or thought regarding the month, an area for notes and a cute picture of a sweet Bichon or two. It's a fun way to mark the passing of the year, and makes a great gift for all your friends and family. Be sure to get one for yourself. Available 12/10/2008.

If I Didn't Have a Dog

*I could walk around the yard barefoot in safety.

*My house could be carpeted instead of tiled and laminated.

*All flat surfaces, clothing, furniture, and cars would be free of hair.

*When the doorbell rings, it wouldn't sound like a kennel.

*When the doorbell rings, I could get to the door without wading through fuzzy bodies who beat me there.

*I could sit on the couch and my bed the way I wanted, without taking into consideration how much space several fur bodies would need to get comfortable.

*I would have moneyand no guilt to go on a real vacation.

*I would not be on a first-name basis with 6 veterinarians, as I put their yet unborn grandkids through college.

*The most used words in my vocabulary would not be: out, sit, down, come, no, stay, and leave him/her/it ALONE.

*My house would not be cordoned off into zones with baby gates or barriers.

*My house would not look like a day care center, toys everywhere.

*My pockets would not contain things like poop bags, treats and an extra leash.

*I would no longer have to spell the words: B-A-L-L, F-R-I-S-B-E-E, W-A-L-K, T-R-E-A-T, C-A-R, G-O, or R-I-D-E.

*I would not have as many leaves INSIDE my house as outside.

*I would not look strangely at people who think having ONE dog/cat ties them down too much.

*I'd look forward to spring and the rainy season instead of dreading 'mud' season.

*I would not have to answer the question 'Why do you have so many animals?' from people who will never have the joy in their lives of knowing they are loved unconditionally by someone as close to an angel as they will ever get.

How EMPTY my life would be!

If You Want Perfection

- ♥ If you want someone who will eat whatever you put in front of him and never say its not quite as good as his mothers ...then adopt a dog. ♥
- ♥ If you want someone always willing to go out, at any hour, for as long and wherever you want ...then adopt a dog. ♥
- ♥ If you want someone who will never touch the remote, doesn't care about football, and can sit next to you as you watch romantic movies ...then adopt a dog. ♥
- ♥ If you want someone who is content to get on your bed just to warm your feet and whom you can push off if he snores ...then adopt a dog. ♥
- ♥ If you want someone who never criticizes what you do, doesn't care if you are pretty or ugly, fat or thin, young or old, who acts as if every word you say is especially worthy of listening to, and loves you unconditionally, perpetually ...then adopt a dog. ♥

BUT, on the other hand, if you want someone who will never come when you call, ignores you totally when you come home, leaves hair all over the place, walks all over you, runs around all night and only comes home to eat and sleep, and acts as if your entire existence is solely to ensure his happiness

....then buy a cat!

Chef Emeril's Doggie Deli

Doggy Casserole

Yummy for the tummy!

1/2 cup boiled poultry, chopped

1/2 cup boiled mixed vegetables

1/2 cup cooked brown rice

3 to 4 Tbsp unsalted chicken broth

(Note: Salmon may occasionally be substituted for boiled poultry, with chicken broth omitted.)

Stir together and serve at room temperature. A good doggy multivitamin/mineral supplement may be added for good measure. Be sure to store unused portions in a covered container in the refrigerator and discard remains after 3 days.

An Old Tired Dog

An older, tired-looking dog wandered into my yard; I could tell from his collar and well-fed belly that he had a home and was well taken care of.

He calmly came over to me, I gave him a few pats on his head; he then followed me into my house, slowly walked down the hall, curled up in the corner and fell asleep.

An hour later, he went to the door, and I let him out.

The next day he was back, greeted me in my yard, walked inside and resumed his spot in the hall and again slept for about an hour.

This continued off and on for several weeks.

Curious I pinned a note to his collar: "I would like to find out who the owner of this wonderful sweet dog is and ask if you are aware that almost every afternoon your dog comes to my house for a nap."

The next day he arrived for his nap, with a different note pinned to his collar: "He lives in a home with 6 children, 2 under the age of 3... he's trying to catch up on his sleep. Can I come with him tomorrow?"

What it really comes down to is a question of values...Is a delicious, succulent turkey, baked to perfection, worth a few whacks on the nose with a newspaper?

Fosse dreams that he is flying.

Everyone Hits Dogs by Shannon Shaefer

Please read the article before making any judgments about what is being said. BFK and the author are by no means tolerant to violence to animals. Judy M

When you become frustrated with your pooch, you start using your hands to accomplish what your voice is failing to do. You start hitting the dog. I will define "hit" the way your dog sees a hit: If you use your hand, or an extension of your hand such as a rolled-up newspaper, to either reject your dog or display your displeasure, you have hit your dog. Yes, that little shove when you were trying to tie your shoe, or that one-finger tap on the nose for playfully biting was a hit. How many times have you pushed her aside while reading the paper when your dog puts her paws up on you for attention? Those were hits. And you thought you never hit your dog. Once dog trainers learn the dog's own definition of a hit, which includes a shove, canine education will be revolutionized.

The dog has a marvelously efficient mind. But she will always see the hands as your front paws. Dogs use their front paws for play. When you pair your front paws with your displeasure, whether it be the look on your face, the tone of your voice or the words you use, you are double-signaling your dog. The dog generally has no ability to unconditionally trust the hand when one time it is used for praise, play or love and another time for rejection or reprimand. I know many dog trainers allow the striking or pushing of a dog. Sadly, I spend much of my time teaching dogs to trust the hand that has so confused them. Do not be confused yourself! You CAN use your hands when you are playing and the dog is playing. There is no limit to your using your hands for love, attention, affection and play.

You can do two tests for fear or confusion of the hand. First, with palm open, FAKE a fast hit to the dog's face. Does she flinch? Does she jerk away? Do her whiskers quiver or her lips curl into a snarl? Or does she just blink? Second, move your hand toward her shoulder while you are facing her. Does she drop her head even slightly while stretching her neck forward? Do her pupils dilate? Does she close her mouth? Does she make a fast movement toward the approaching hand? Does she jump up or away? If you can answer yes to any of these questions, your dog has developed a fear of the hand. How long before she grabs that hand? Or perhaps she bites your neighbor's hand or the child in the park that runs up quickly to hug your little ball of fur? Do not think for a minute your little darling is incapable of biting.

The number one cause of aggression problems is a result of the improper use of your hands. Aggression occurs in three different forms. Aggression against children, adults and other animals. Yes, dog fighting can be a result of the improper use of your hands.

Tinker

My name is Tinker and I'm about six months old and all of six pounds. As cute as I am, I am also a sick little puppy. I became a FurKid last week and had to have an operation yesterday so I could live a normal life. (When the shelter asked Bichon FurKids to rescue me, they didn't know that I was so sick - only that I had stopped eating.)

The nice doctors say my condition (it has a very, very long name) is pretty rare. Dr. Cambridge says he has seen only ten little kids like me in 18 years. My surgery was very specialized (because I'm already very special.)

I have a strong will to live and just need a chance to grow into a big fur kid (well, I really won't be too big even when I'm grown.)

If you would like to help me to get well, I would be very grateful. Any donation that you can make can have my name on it and BFK will be sure that I continue to get what I need to heal.

Thanks so much.

Tinker the soon-to-be Wonder Dog

Look what they did to my leg! And worse, my nice warm behind is cold now! Auntie Marti says I am 'fashionably shaved', but I don't think I like 'fashion.'

Bichon FurKids has been fighting a desperate battle to rescue each and every Bichon in the local shelters, but without Foster families who will take the little mites into their homes, there are too often a few that get left behind. Please, mention us to your friends, and print the "Help Us" poster on page 15. Post it at parks, veterinarians offices, pet stores, health clubs, school, groceries, anywhere that will allow it.

We thank you for all your help and support.

From Marti's Desk

Welcome to our holiday issue. This is one of our favorite times of the year and, for rescue, one of the busiest. It is also a time when there are special foods, parties to attend and lots of additional comings-and-goings. For your bichon, it may be a time when your schedule is different and his or her routine may change. For lucky bichons it means more time with mom, dad and the kids - and perhaps some extra special goodies along the way.

If you want to give your bichons some treats that are good for them, Animal Wellness Magazine lists the top 14 fruits and vegetables for your pet. At the top of the list (in order of their health benefits, that is) are Apples (including Red Delicious), Avocados (potassium and Vitamin A, Bananas, Blueberries, Broccoli (which has more nutrients than any other vegetable and is an important cancer-fighting vegetable), Cantaloupe (beta carotene), Carrots, Green Beans, Papayas, Pumpkin (high in fiber) Sweet Potatoes (beta carotene and fiber), Tomatoes, Watermelon and... Cranberries. Please remember to never give your fur kid the following: onions, grapes, raisins (renal failure), spinach, Swiss chard, eggplant, peppers and chocolate.

We have just completed our online auction and fundraiser - and we thank all of you who participated! Our current project is the Bichon FurKid Rescue Calendar for 2009. It goes to print next week and is a 13 month (January 2009-February 2010) calendar filled with wonderful stories, precious photos, relevant dates and room for notes. We promise you will NOT be disappointed. The calendars make great gifts for friends and families. We want to thank the families who helped to sponsor the calendar and thank Editor Judy for not only working on this newsletter but for the amazing job she did on the calendar. (You can order the calendar on our web site at www.bichonfurkids.org)

It has been a busy year for Bichon FurKids and we count among our blessings the many wonderful new bichon moms, dads, grandparents and kids we have met along the way. For each of the past four months we have been rescuing and finding homes for 45 fur kids. That number still amazes and astounds us! And we are grateful to be meeting the many new foster moms and dads who make rescuing them possible.

We are experiencing a record number of owners who recognize that they are not able to properly train and socialize their fur kid - or whose work schedules are not conducive to having a bichon at home (unhappily) waiting for them at the end of a very long work day. About 35-40% of our recent rescues are the result of owner surrenders. Happily, these fur kids have found forever homes with families who are able to give them what they were missing.

BFK has also recently rescued three bichon females who were pregnant. In all three cases, the shelters either did not know that they were or simply failed to communicate that fact. The first two times we did not even suspect it; this last time we did (and that pup was Juliette, who was surrendered by her owner.) For the first time since BFK was started, we have puppies. Miss Pink has already been spayed and Denay and Juliette are going to be spayed so that this never happens again.

From Marti's Desk

We also have a little miracle boy we call Tinker. At six months and six pounds he is quite the little package. He was a sick package, too, as it turns out. Tinker needed a surgery whose name was longer than he was. When we met this playful, happy, spirited little guy we made a decision: we had to help him to get the surgery that would, we hope, enable him to live a long and happy life. It's too early to tell if the surgery will correct his entire problem, yet he remains an amazing and loving little guy who steals hearts wherever he goes! (See his story on page 11.)

We want this newsletter to be as relevant as possible to all bichon lovers - so we invite you to share the products, services, resources and approaches that have worked and are working for you and your fur kid. Please email us at info@bichonfurkids.org.

Because we are often asked for recommendations, we continue to add to the People We Recommend section on our web site. We are also including that current list on the last page of our newsletter. If you have groomers, trainers, vets, dog sitters etc. that you recommend, please contact us - we'll contact them - and expand the list of wonderful service providers.

We hope you enjoy the articles our volunteers have written, learn about the joys of fostering, like hearing about happy adoptions and enjoy the new recipe (thanks Chef Emeril and Judy!) We also invite you to share photos that you have taken of your fur kids as we would like to include more photos in future newsletters. Got a cute or funny photo to share? Please email it to info@bichonfurkids.org - and we'll get it Editor Judy right away!

For all of you who have adopted a fur kid or two... THANK YOU!!! May you and your little fur kid share many healthy, happy years together filled with doggy kisses, belly rubs, long walks in the sun, breezy rides in the car, happy bichon buzzes and all the love you ever wanted.

Can YOU Help raise $25,000 for Bichon furkids Rescue? Yes! Please!

It is relatively easy. All you need to do is give us your vote, as often as once a day, on the Animal Rescue Site webpage, www.theanimalrescuesite.com. The grand prize for the shelter/rescue group that brings in the most votes, is a check in the amount of $25,000. Think of the little darlings that could be saved with that amount of money! There are additional prizes of grants in smaller amounts, so every vote counts.

Please go to www.theanimalrescuesite.com and CLICK TO GIVE. On this page you will find an ad located at the top and bottom of the page. You can vote here daily through December 15th of this year. Please try to remember to go in daily and vote. And please ask your friends to do so.

Lots of little angels will be very grateful to you for your help. Thank you for all the things you do for this organization.

There are many talented resources that Bichon FurKids calls upon to guide and help us with our own Bichons, as well as those we rescue. Feel free to contact the people below as they have proven
